A Girl's Guide to Creation

You are inside it. It is inside of you.

This is every girl's guide back to Him.

Come, walk the long road with me – from the Bible into Christianity, Judaism, and Islam, through the Dead Sea Scrolls and the Nag Hammadi library, then deeper into the Gnostic texts, and onward through Buddhism, Hinduism, Zoroastrianism, Cosmology, Astrology, and Psychology, until we arrive at the heart of Kabbalah – a mystical journey into the Hebrew alphabet itself.

Follow the single golden thread all the way down to the beginning itself – to the Father, the Fall, the gods, the Material World, and the Rescue by the One who came as the Messiah, the Savior.

Enter the chambers. Let the whole story open before you.

CHAMBER OF PSYCHOLOGY

Every Girl's Guide Back to Him

I keep turning these pages... and I keep seeing how the West has invented new forms of sickness while quietly keeping people dependent on medicine, generation after generation.

We now return to the shores of the West – to a small town on the coast of Washington where the Pacific wind carries the cry of gulls. Here we take an honest look at one of the most powerful forces shaping minds today: the field of psychology. What presents itself as neutral science has become the dominant lens through which our society understands the human condition. Its diagnoses and frameworks quietly reshape how we see ourselves, our children, our pain, and what it means to be whole.

From the beginning, weeds were sown among the wheat. The enemy has always mixed falsehood with truth. In this generation the distinction is becoming visible. New diagnoses multiply. Children are medicated at levels never seen before. What was once understood as struggle, formation, or spiritual tension is now labeled and managed with pharmaceuticals. Meanwhile, the radical living words of Yeshua are often treated as distant stories with little relevance to modern suffering.

The West has become remarkably skilled at naming sickness and keeping people in treatment. What it has been far slower to offer is true liberation. New breakthroughs are now emerging – not by doubling down on endless diagnosis and medication, but by returning to Yeshua's teachings, combined with spiritual tools such as the natal chart and honest inner work. These approaches do not aim to manage symptoms forever. They aim to uproot the false patterns so the soul can be set free.

Sexual Sin — The Hidden Fire of This Age

Modern Western culture has become one of the most highly sexualized in human history. Pornography, casual sex, and constant sexual imagery are treated as personal freedom and entertainment, producing deep addiction, confusion, anxiety, and fractured relationships.

Yeshua said:

"You have heard that it was said, 'You shall not commit adultery.' But I say to you that everyone who looks at a woman with lustful intent has already committed adultery with her in her heart."

He revealed that sexual sin begins long before the physical act. It takes root the moment lust is welcomed in the heart. He spoke with startling seriousness, saying it is better to lose an eye or a hand than to continue feeding this fire. When asked about the sin of the world, He pointed to the lie born from adultery. Addiction, in many cases, is the fruit of this same root.

True release comes when we stop lying to ourselves, seek out the sexual pain and confusion we carry, and give up the desires of the flesh. We must also recognize the inherited patterns passed down through our ancestors – the false character that was never ours to begin with. When we hate these false patterns (not the divine light in any person) and turn toward transformation, the bondage begins to break.

No Kingdom of God can truly exist among a people who remain enslaved to lust.

Narcissism — The Inflated Self

Psychology describes narcissism as an inflated sense of self-importance and a lack of empathy. Yeshua addressed the root directly:

"Blessed are the poor in spirit, for theirs is the kingdom of heaven."

"Whoever exalts himself will be humbled, and whoever humbles himself will be exalted."

He called us to become poor in spirit – emptied of self-exaltation. True healing does not come from building up the old self, but from its surrender. He makes it clear that we are all born carrying a false character. Only when we begin the real work with Him do the shadows start to fall.

Anxiety — The Spirit of Worry

Psychology often frames anxiety as a condition to be managed through therapy, medication, and coping strategies. Yeshua gave a direct command:

"Do not be anxious about your life... But seek first the kingdom of God and his righteousness, and all these things will be added to you."

He pointed us to complete trust in the Father and to seek the Kingdom within first. The spirit of worry reveals where the soul is still attached to the cares of this world rather than resting in the living Word. Many are now awakening to the deep peace that comes from simple obedience to His words.

Addiction — The Bondage

Psychology treats addiction as a chronic condition requiring lifelong management. Yeshua named it plainly:

"Truly, truly, I say to you, everyone who practices sin is a slave to sin."

"So if the Son sets you free, you will be free indeed."

He did not come to help us manage bondage. He came to break it. Real freedom is not coping mechanisms – it is being set free indeed when we renounce all and follow Him. Addiction is often a consequence of deeper sin and inherited patterns. The answer is not endless management, but seeking the Father in truth and allowing Him to uproot what still holds power over the soul. The natal chart can reveal where certain planetary influences still exert pressure, showing us exactly where spiritual work is needed.

Psychosis — When All the Veils Open at Once

This is the most complex territory. What the clinical world calls psychosis is often not one veil malfunctioning, but many veils opening at once – or opening in the wrong sequence. The soul begins receiving signals from multiple layers (body, mind, and spirit) without a proper filter or framework.

What is labeled "hearing voices" may be the soul picking up frequencies it has no language to decode. What is called "delusion" may be pattern recognition operating without the grounding of structure. The ancient world did not always call this illness. It sometimes recognized it as uncontained prophecy. The difference between the prophet and the psychotic soul is not the signal – it is the map. The prophet had a framework. The soul in crisis often receives the same transmission with no container to hold it.

Here again, the West has been quick to medicate and slow to offer a true spiritual map. When Yeshua's teachings, combined with tools like the natal chart and honest inner work, are brought into these spaces, something different becomes possible. The soul is no longer managed as permanently broken. It is guided toward integration and freedom.

The teachings have not changed.

We are the ones awakening to them again.

Yeshua did not come to label our suffering and keep us dependent on systems. He came to set the captive free. The false patterns we inherited, the anxious mind, every form of bondage, and the hidden fire of sexual sin all find their answer in the One who said:

"Come to me, all who labor and are heavy laden, and I will give you rest."

The Kingdom is still coming – on earth as it is in heaven.
